Helen's sister, Julia died two years ago when she was going to marry. The night she died, she told Helen that she heard a whistle sound. And her last words were, "It was the band! The speckled band!"

One day, Helen told Dr. Roylott she wanted to get married. Dr. Roylott said nothing about her marriage. He only asked her to move to Julia's room. When Helen was sleeping in Julia's room, she heard a whistle sound, too, so she felt afraid.

Helen asked Holmes for help, at night, Holmes and Watson hid at an inn. They climbed through the window after they got Helen's signal. When Holmes heard a hissing sound, he lit a match and ran to the wall. He began to hit something violently. Later, they heard a terrible scream.

They went to Dr. Roylott's room, and then they saw a snake wrapping around Dr. Roylott's head.
